

will complement the Administration's $19.4 billion school construction initiative by targeting resources to growing states. My bill is fully paid for using the offset others would use to fund the misguided Coverdell private school voucher scheme.

The simple fact of the matter is that our growing states need help to build quality schools in which to educate our children. This Congress must do its part to assist the states that have the greatest needs. My bill targets resources to the states that will experience the greatest growth over the next decade. The Etheridge bill will provide more than $100 million each to the top 17 fastest growing states; slower growing states will qualify for lower amounts. My state of North Carolina will qualify for about $360 million in school construction bonds under this legislation.

No child in America should be forced to attend class in a trailer, a closet or any other substandard facility. The Etheridge bill will help address this problem, and I urge my colleagues to cosponsor this bill.

IT'S OUR MONEY, NOT THEIRS!

HON. BOB SCHAFFER

OF COLORADO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, April 1, 1998

Mr. BOB SCHAFFER of Colorado. Mr. Speaker, processing salmon on a cannery slime line was probably the best job preparation I ever received for my stint in the U.S. Congress. Making laws is never pretty either.

Standing boot deep in fins, fish heads, and entrails, trying to keep up with the conveyor belt, my team routinely exceeded our production goals. In the end, we made a fine product, and our Alaskan employer succeeded in running a good business—despite the bloody mess.

That was my first job out of college. I paid my way through school as a lifeguard, a farm hand, a referee and umpire, a night clerk at an apartment complex, and as a retail worker. During holidays, I filled in for a vacationing heating and air contractors' assistant, and conducted public opinion polls for local governments and community boards.

Upon graduation I worked a few more jobs before being asked, at a relatively young age by local leaders, to fill a vacancy in the state Senate. In addition to the cannery job, I worked as a carpet layer, in food service, as a legislative researcher, a corporate and political speechwriter, and press secretary. I later ran my own marketing business for six years too.

But, throughout all my work, entrepreneurial and investment experiences, I've been confronted with the same disappointment—high taxes.

Each time I forked over more of my earnings to the government, I pledged to myself that, if I ever got the chance, I'd work even harder to put the priorities of wage-earners ahead of the tax collectors.

This month, millions of Coloradans will labor through the time-consuming and stressful task of preparing tax returns to answer the government's deadline of April 15th. The average family will endure a local, state, and federal tax burden of an incredible 40 percent of income for 1997.

This year, Americans will spend a combined 5½ billion hours working to comply with our tax system. Meanwhile, the 114,000 employees of the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) are toiling too. They must, in order to churn out and process the 8 billion pages of forms and instructions taxpayers will need in order to stay above the law.

This is why, in my first year in Congress, I cosponsored and voted for two of the most important pieces of tax legislation in decades: The Taxpayer Relief Act of 1997, providing the first net tax cut in 16 years; and the IRS Restructuring Act, getting us a step closer to reining in one of the most abusive federal agencies, and setting us up to scrap the entire tax code in favor of one that is fairer, flatter, and simpler.

Indeed, this is one goal I will be pursuing further this month along with my friends at the National Federation of Independent Business (NFIB)—the nation's largest small business advocate. I've been a proud NFIB member myself for many years.

On April 15th, NFIB will sponsor national "It's our Money, not THEIRS" Day. The plan is to gather one million signatures on petitions calling upon the president and Congress to "abolish the IRS Code as of December 31, 2000, and to propose to the American people for our consideration a simpler, fairer tax code which will reward work and savings."

Paying taxes is never pretty. Some would say the tax code is a bloody mess. Thanks to the NFIB, taxpayers will have a chance to send a forceful tax message to the government: "Fish or cut bait!"

To volunteer for April 15th Day, or to obtain petitions, call me, see any other NFIB small business member, or call toll free 1-888-NOT4IRS.

INTRODUCTION OF THE CHILD NUTRITION AND WIC REAUTHORIZATION AMENDMENTS OF 1998

HON. MATTHEW G. MARTINEZ

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, April 1, 1998

Mr. MARTINEZ. Mr. Speaker, today I am pleased to introduce the Child Nutrition and WIC Reauthorization Amendments of 1998 on behalf of the Administration. For the first time in nearly 20 years, the Executive Branch has transmitted to the Congress a bill to reauthorize our Child Nutrition programs and the Special Supplemental Nutrition Program for Women, Infants and Children (WIC) program. This legislation is cost-neutral over five years, simplifies and streamlines program operations, provide access to qualified participants, helps to ensure program integrity and improves food safety. I am happy to sponsor this bill and strongly encourage my colleagues to support it as well.

The Child Nutrition Programs and the WIC Program are absolutely critical to our Nation's future. There is no question of the need to reauthorize the expiring programs and, where we can, improve access, eliminate unnecessary paperwork, and reduce the chance for abuse. I believe the Administration bill moves us toward these goals and is an excellent starting point as we begin our efforts to reauthorize these programs.

Among the many improvements in the legislation, the bill would:

Give authority for an after school program in the Child and Adult Care Food Program for at risk youths between the ages of 12-18; this is a critical provision as so many children need a positive and supportive after school option since the highest instances of juvenile crime occur during the hours immediately following the end of the school day and the dinner hour;

Require schools to make every effort to establish adequate time for kids to eat school lunches in a "child friendly" atmosphere ensuring good nutrition;

Authorize Nutrition Education and Training grants based on $.50 per child per year with a minimum of $75,000 per state;

Give authority for USDA to pay for the cost of removing any foods that have been found to be unhealthy or contaminated;

Require that food service operations of participating schools be inspected for health and safety;

Increase the number of sites and children that can be served by non-profit sponsors in the Summer Food Service Program;

Improve management of the WIC program with changes in how states can manage "spend forward" funds and require documentation of income for WIC participants;

Tighten penalties on vendors who violate the rules for participation in the WIC program.

There are a number of other provisions in the bill that I will not discuss at this point, but are designed to improve program operations. On whole, the bill represents a balanced and thoughtful approach to improving the programs at a time when budgets are very tight and tough choices must be made about where to spend our limited resources.

There is one provision of this legislation regarding the WIC program which I cannot support and another for which the Ranking Member and I are concerned. First, the bill would require that the Secretary of Agriculture propose regulations to verify the income of WIC participants. I cannot support this provision because I believe it would drive legitimate recipients out of the program and would add to the administrative burdens on WIC clinics when it is not at all clear that much improvement in accountability would be obtained. Recent testimony before the Education and Workforce Committee reinforces my belief that this provision is not necessary and should not be included in the final bill which Congress sends to the President. Second, the bill would terminate the Secretary's authority to administer the very small segment of child nutrition programs, which certain states do not presently administer for a variety of reasons, at the USDA Regional level. The Ranking Member and I are committed to closely examining this proposal as we proceed through the reauthorization process and ensure that, if enacted, it will not jeopardize the nutritional meals and snacks which children presently receive under these programs.

I am looking forward to working with the Department of Agriculture, and Under Secretary Shirley Watkins, and my colleagues here in the Congress to enact the positive features of this legislation and other beneficial provisions as we work to improve our child nutrition programs through this reauthorization.

CELEBRATING THE 50TH ANNIVERSARY OF VFW POST 9588

HON. MAURICE D. HINCHEY

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, April 1, 1998

Mr. HINCHEY. Mr. Speaker, I am rising to speak today to commemorate the 50th anniversary of the chartering of Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 9588, the Bailey-Richman Post, in Monticello, New York. The Post was chartered on April 4th, 1948 at the Grange Hall in Monticello and was recently honored by the National Headquarters of the VFW with a Golden Anniversary Citation. It is an honor they justly deserve. I would like to also celebrate and honor the Post's long history of public service and commitment to their community in Sullivan County. The wonderful men and women of this post have given so much to us all in times of war and in times of peace and I want them to know that their contributions are deeply felt and greatly appreciated. I ask all of my colleagues to join me in celebrating the upcoming 50th anniversary of the Bailey-Richman VFW Post 9588.

30TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE FAIR HOUSING ACT

HON. DALE E. KILDEE

OF MICHIGAN

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, April 1, 1998

Mr. KILDEE. Mr. Speaker, it is truly an honor to rise before you today to commemorate the 30th anniversary of the Fair Housing Act by designating the month of April as Fair Housing Month in Flint, Michigan.

Michigan, and the City of Flint in particular, has a long history of promoting fair housing. In February, 1968, the citizens of Flint voted to adopt the first open-housing ordinance in the country. As a member of the Michigan State Legislature, I introduced the very first Open Housing Act which outlawed housing discrimination in Michigan. In my many years of public service, I have continued the fight for fair and equitable housing because I believe our country must grant every person an equal chance to succeed in America.

The Fair Housing Act of 1968 celebrates its anniversary this year with the distinction of being one of the most successful civil rights laws in history. Thanks to the cooperation and support of hundreds of state and local governments, more and more Americans are enjoying the simple freedom of choosing where to live.

The Fair Housing Act was enacted in 1968, shortly after Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.'s assassination. The Act bars housing discrimination on account of race, color, religion, sex, disability, family status and national origin. The Act covers the sale, rental financing and advertising of almost all housing in the nation.

Mr. Speaker, although we have made significant strides in combating housing discrimination, we still have a long way to go. It is illegal, immoral and intolerable and it has no place in our present or future. During this month of observance of the 30th anniversary of the Fair Housing Act, let us work together to preserve the principles of this important legislation by eliminating discrimination and ensuring that all Americans are afforded the opportunity to live with dignity and pride.

TRIBUTE TO EPSILON KAPPA

HON. NYDIA M. VELÁZQUEZ

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, April 1, 1998

Ms. VELÁZQUEZ. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to Epsilon Kappa, St. John's University's Chapter of Sigma Delta Pi, the National Collegiate Hispanic Society which, for seventy-seven years has been promoting Hispanic culture and language in the United States. In light of the fact that we are honoring Hispanic heritage and culture, I am choosing to make this tribute in my native language Spanish.

(Ms. VELÁZQUEZ submitted two paragraphs in Spanish.)

Successful organizations like this cannot promote themselves alone. They need the guidance and vision of talented leaders like Professor Marie-Lise Gazarian-Gautier, a renowned scholar in literature at St. John's University, Coordinator of the Graduate Spanish Program and Moderator of Epsilon Kappa, St. John's Chapter of Sigma Delta Pi. Dr. Gazarian is affiliated with universities in Paris-France, Moscow-Russia, and Santiago the 1945 Chilean Nobel Prize Laureate. She is also author of several books, among them: "Gabriela Mistral: La maestra de Elqui." In addition, she serves as Foreign Correspondent for several literary journals abroad and has hosted a nationwide series on "Contemporary Hispanic Fiction" produced by WCBs-TV and St. John's Television Center. In 1996 she was appointed Judge of the Selection Committee for the Poet Laureate from Queens. She currently serves as Vice President for the Northeast of Sigma Delta Pi.

Mr. Speaker, I ask my colleagues to rise with me today in honor of the seventy-seventh anniversary of Sigma Delta Pi and the invaluable contribution its chapters are making to our Hispanic Culture and society throughout the United States. We wish Sigma Delta Pi continued success and recognize St. John's University's Chapter, Epsilon Kappa, for its outstanding work in promoting Hispanic culture in America.

FORMER CONGRESSWOMAN BELLA
ABZUG

HON. JERROLD NADLER

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, April 1, 1998

Mr. NADLER. Mr. Speaker, yesterday, I came to the floor bearing the unfortunate news that former Congresswoman Bella Abzug had died. I would now like to take this opportunity to say a few words about our colleague, who affected this House and this nation deeply.

Bella Abzug was a woman ahead of her time. I am not the first to come to this conclusion, and I am certainly not the only person who will point out this fact as the world reflects on this loss. So perhaps it is fitting to go one step further, and say: Bella Abzug was not only a woman ahead of her time. She was a woman who ushered in a new time.

I don't think it is unreasonable to say that Bella Abzug changed the way Americans think about female politicians, and for a very uncomplicated reason: she made us do so. She wasn't afraid to demand the respect she deserved, and I think maybe the perfect example of that comes from a story she told about why she started wearing her trademark hats.

"When I first became a lawyer," she said a few years ago, "only about 2 percent of the Bar was women. People would always think I was a secretary. In those days, professional women in the business world wore hats. So I started wearing hats." And as we all know, she never stopped.

But Bella Abzug didn't go into politics out of personal ambition. One of the fundamental things about her, maybe her defining element—beneath the character, beneath the voice, beneath the hats—was her tireless social conscience. She had no time for typical politicians, and even less time for politics as usual. And not only was she driven to do the right thing, but she demanded the same of everyone she came in contact with.

I remember that whenever I would talk to her, she would say to me, "Are you doing enough? Are you doing enough?" And then, occasionally, almost begrudgingly, she would say, "Well, you're doing okay." I would leave our conversation feeling as if I had received the greatest compliment one could ever receive.

That is one of my memories of Bella, and I am sure many Members of Congress have others they would like to share. That is why we will be holding a Special Order following the upcoming district work period, where I invite our colleagues with memories to share to come forward, and to give to former Representative Abzug the tribute which is surely her due.

Finally, regarding my colleague I can only conclude with this: when Bella Abzug left the House of Representatives, this chamber became a poorer place. Likewise, yesterday the world became a poorer place, though all of us are richer for having experienced Bella's presence.

REFORMING BILINGUAL EDUCATION

HON. FRANK RIGGS

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, April 1, 1998

Mr. RIGGS. Mr. Speaker, today I am introducing legislation to reform the federal bilingual education program to insure its primary focus is on teaching children English.

English is our official common and commercial language. Our goal should be that every child in America entering Kindergarten will be able to read and write English by the end of the First Grade. Other students should be expected to master English within two academic years.

Over the past few years, there has been a growing amount of evidence that bilingual education classes—those using a child's native language in instruction—are having a harmful impact on our Nation's English language
